BUSINESS BLOCK IN SAN DIEGO LEFT IN RUINS BY BIG FIRE

Damage Estimated at $2,000,000 by Destruction Of Department Store and Eleven-Story Office Building in Spectacular Night Blaze—One Man Is Critically Injured

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 21 (AP).—Victor Szczepanski, a United States sailor, lay near death at the naval hospital tonight as authorities investigated the $2,000,000 blaze, which destroyed a department store and adjacent business structures in a downtown block.

The sailor dropped through the roof of the burning building as he was handling a fire hose. Another sailor, A. C. Clark, rescued Szczepanski.

Firemen said the fire started in a stock room of the department store about 1 a.m. and spread swiftly through the building's three stories.

THREE OTHERS HURT
About twenty sailors from the crowd of several thousand persons aided firemen. Fire Chief George Parish suffered a serious leg abrasion, and two firemen were hospitalized for injuries suffered fighting the blaze.

Thousands of persons watched 200 firemen and volunteers win a slow battle against the flames, which leaped to the full height of the eleven-story Watts Office Building in the same block.

Street car and utility service was cut off in the area as firemen mopped up the blaze.

LINE UP FOR MAYORAL RACE

Jubilee Committee Head Is Mentioned Among Many As Candidate

VANCOUVER, Oct. 21 (AP).—C. E. Thompson, chairman of the Vancouver Jubilee committee and campaign manager for Mayor G. G. McGee during the 1934 civic election, may be a candidate in the forthcoming mayoral race.

"I have a big business to attend to and am not seeking the mayor's chair," Mr. Thompson said today, "but if my friends find no other suitable candidate, rather than let Mayor McGee seek reelection unopposed by what we think a good man in the interests of the city, I will accept nomination."

He said that if any other suitable man came forward as a candidate, he was willing to retire.

PLANS NOT KNOWN
Mayor McGee has as yet announced no plan to run for the office.

So far, the name of only one candidate has been formally announced, that of former Mayor Louis D. Taylor, whose nomination papers were filed on Monday.

Among others whose names have been mentioned for the office, are: Hon. H. H. Stevens, M.P.; Aldermen T. H. Kirk, W. W. Smith, G. C. Miller, J. J. McCrae and L. D. McDonald; R. Rowe Holland, chairman of the Parks Board; Dr. A. D. Buchanan, of the Federated Bayers' Association; and W. R. Offer, suggested as a Co-operative Commonwealth Federation candidate.

WILL EXCHANGE YOUTH LEADERS

Italy and Germany to Found Initiatives as Bulwark Against Bolshevism

BERLIN, Oct. 21 (AP).—A new move toward welding Italy-German youth into a bulwark of European resistance against Bolshevism was announced tonight by Baldur von Schirach, German leader of youth, in the presence of Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian Foreign Minister, and 20,000 Hitler youth and girls.

An institute for Italy-German youth leadership will be founded in Rome and Berlin, he declared at a gigantic rally in the sports palace, for the exchange of youth leaders between the two countries.

The idea of the exchange, he said, will be to familiarize young people in each country with cultural, economic and political conditions and achievements of the other as well as further cementing friendly relations between the two countries.

Wait for Freeze-Up To Obtain Release From Winter's Grip

Crew of Twenty-Four Expected to Be Captives for Several Weeks on Ice-Locked Ship On Great Slave Lake

FORT RESOLUTION, N.W.T., Oct. 21 (AP).—Captives of the Sub-Arctic, twenty-four men aboard the motorship Silver Queen, ice-locked on Great Slave Lake, were prepared to spend several weeks of enforced imprisonment on the boat waiting for the Northern freeze-up. Fort Resolution is about 675 miles north of Edmonton.

Departure for Edmonton of two airplane pilots, who had been poised at Fort Smith, N.W.T., ready to take the crew from the Silver Queen, indicated that hope for favorable weather was not expected and Captain H. L. Sargent and his men would have to stay on the boat until after the freeze-up, probably about November 21.

Pilot Stanley McMillan, who figured in two other cases in recent years in which ships were stranded in the North, reached Edmonton tonight, and Pilot Harry Haster, prevented on Tuesday by a snowstorm from reaching the Silver Queen, was southbound at MacMurray.

Fascists Advance Within Sight of Madrid's Lights Overcoming All Defences

Government Forces Retreat From Navalcarnero, Last Major City Barring Path to Capital—Insurgents Capture Artillery Batteries on Six Lines of Defence Taken by Assault

WITH GEN. JOSE VARELA'S TROOPS, Spain, Oct. 21 (AP).—Within sight of Madrid's lights tonight four Fascist columns buttressed their strength for an attack on El Escorial, key of the capital's defences only twenty-four miles to the northwest.

Artillery was emplaced at Santa Maria de la Alameda, directly west of El Escorial, to blast the way for an infantry charge. Another column approached within three miles of the beleaguered tourist resort from Zarzalejo, three miles to the southwest, where insurgents reached a direct rail line to Madrid.

In the south, an army under General Jose Varela battled stubbornly to hold outposts on the Madrid front. Seasoned Moroccan campaigners were rushed to the front, while heavy guns were brought into place.

Fighting reached close to the town of Robledo de Chavela, where firing from both sides kicked up dust in the streets and inhabitants fled into cellars to escape bombs dropped from a Government plane.

BATTLE ALONG ROAD
The battle along the road to Madrid could be seen easily from towers in Robledo, but it was not possible to tell which side held the advantage.

WANTS TO SEE SECRET RECORD

Vancouver's Special Investigator Meets Direct Refusal of Police Chief

VANCOUVER, Oct. 21 (AP).—A demand that the refusal of the police commission to allow W. A. Tucker, special investigator, access to secret service records be drawn to the attention of the Attorney-General, was given today when acting Mayor G. C. Miller offered to call a special meeting of the commission to reconsider Tucker's requests.

"I have no recourse but to refuse," Chief of Police W. W. Foster told the police and traffic committee of the city council today.

AGAINST THE CODE
The Criminal Code and the police regulations of the city prohibit any unauthorized person having access to the secret service and intelligence records," the chief said, adding that the accounts contained the identity and activities of police operatives.

"Every effort is made to get those names—the underworld would pay money for the information," Chief Foster said.

"But surely you don't think Tucker would divulge these facts," said Alderman L. D. McDonald.

"Of course not, but I was explaining why the files must be kept private."

OUT OF ORDER
As Tucker proceeded to question the chief's views, Chief Foster protested. "I am not coming down here to have my word doubted by an employee under my jurisdiction. I am here to answer the committee's questions, and that is all."

RUSSIANS READY TO QUIT PACT AND AID MADRID GOVERNMENT

Soviet Withdrawal From Non-Intervention Agreement Expected at Meeting of Committee Tomorrow—Italy and Germany Agree to Support Fascist Dictatorship in Spain

MOSCOW, Oct. 21 (AP).—Russia is ready to quit the Spanish non-intervention pact and send warplanes to the Madrid Government, authoritative sources said tonight. With the insurgents striking ever closer to Madrid, these sources said, the Kremlin feels it must send munitions and planes as the only way to prevent establishment of another Rightist dictatorship similar to those in Italy and Germany.

Highest officials were agreed recent developments growing out of the Spanish war have created "the gravest days" in Europe in two decades. (At Rome it was reported Italy and Germany had agreed to support a Fascist military dictatorship in Spain if the insurgent armies triumph.)

MUST TAKE STRONG STAND
Dictator Joseph Stalin, informed persons said, is convinced Europe is nearing the abyss of another war, and Russia must make her influence felt immediately and in the strongest and most unmistakable terms.

The Russian Government will recognize the incumbent Madrid Government under all future conditions save resignation of the President and Cabinet, informed sources said.

BRIDGE TOLL LIVE ISSUE
Tom Reid, M.P., Stirs Government With Declaration As to Federal Aid

Agitation for the removal of tolls on the $4,000,000 Pattullo Bridge, which will not be completed for a year yet, received fresh impetus this week from remarks made on the Mainland by Tom Reid, M.P., as New Westminster.

According to reports reaching the provincial capital, the Federal member for New Westminster, hinted broadly that the British Columbia Government would make application to Ottawa for a generous Federal grant to help in financing the bridge, which would affect tolls.

Premier Pattullo and other members of the Government here declined comment yesterday on the statement attributed to Mr. Reid, and would neither confirm nor deny the report that the Province is seeking aid from Ottawa.

TOLLS WERE PLEDGED
The bridge was commenced on the understanding given in the Legislature that it would be paid for eventually out of tolls charged against actual users after the work was completed. Suggestions by the Opposition that the tolls would be removed were countered at the Spring session by Government denials that any such action would be taken.

Spoken of originally as a $3,000,000 undertaking, the bridge became a $3,500,000 project, and in more recent official announcements has been referred to as $4,000,000, the last-named figure being the limit set in the Covering Act which authorized the Fraser River Bridge Company to begin operations.

The work was commenced with funds from the sale of $1,000,000 in bonds.

Suspect Held In Vancouver Murder Case

Principal Advantages, He Added, Are It Produces Unconsciousness More Rapidly Than Other Drugs, Can Be Safely Used in Operations Requiring Several Hours, and Is Quickly Eliminated from the Body After an Operation is Completed.

Known as "Divinyl Ether," the anesthetic has been used to date on 1,675 cases, according to Dr. Isidor Ravdin, professor of research surgery of the University of Pennsylvania, and "through it is not the ideal anesthetic, it is as close an approach to it as we know."

PRINCIPAL ADVANTAGES
The principal advantages, he added, are it produces unconsciousness more rapidly than other drugs, can be safely used in operations requiring several hours, and is quickly eliminated from the body after an operation is completed.

Poor bed effects, such as nausea, result from the use of Divinyl ether, Dr. Ravdin declared, and in a series of 600 cases in which examination was made no harmful effects on the kidneys, which sometimes result from the use of other anesthetics, were found.

The drug is especially valuable in dental operations and in the treatment of fractures, where quick relaxation of the patient's muscles is necessary to set the broken bones, he reported.

FINDING OF BOAT LEADS TO SEARCH

Missing Port Neville Man Was Last Seen Rowing in Johnstone Strait

PORT NEVILLE, B.C., Oct. 21 (AP).—British Columbia police and residents of Port Neville, on Johnstone Strait about 100 miles north of Comox today were searching for Kristian "Pete" Hagen, who disappeared between here and Topaz Harbor and whose boat was found on the beach near Jackson Bay.

Friends said he had trouble with an outboard motor on his twelve-foot rowboat and was going west last seen. He was going to Eng's Camp at Topaz Harbor, a distance of eighteen miles. The search was begun when it was found he failed to arrive at his destination.

Hagen's wife and daughter live here.

AIR FORCE STRENGTH
In view of the great distances an enemy would have to travel to attack either the Pacific or Atlantic coasts, an air force would be suggested that would be numerically strong enough to overpower any enemy except the United States.

Naval Veterans Here Observe Anniversary Of Trafalgar Battle

Men of Navy and Army Gather at Dinner to Honor Great Britain's Greatest Naval Hero—Toast List Provides Interesting Addresses

FOLLOWING a custom established some years ago, the Naval Veterans Branch of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League last night observed the 131st anniversary of the Battle of Trafalgar and honored the memory of Britain's greatest naval hero, Lord Nelson. The observance was in the form of a dinner at the Hudson's Bay Company dining-room, attended by representatives of church, state, the navy and army.

The dinner was informal and the addresses were of an interesting character, many references being made to the significance of the famous battle, not so much from the standpoint of the action itself, but for the results that followed, particularly the traditions which had adhered themselves to the various branches of the Royal and Canadian navies.

THE PROGRAMME

The programme, which was in the capable hands of J. Whitcomb, president of Naval Veterans Branch No. 42, included a lengthy toast list, interspersed with musical and instrumental numbers, and orchestra playing before the dinner and during the intermissions. The customary toast to His Majesty was honored by the singing of the National Anthem and followed by a silent toast to departed comrades, given by Rev. Alan Gardiner.

The honor of proposing the toast to the navy fell to Rev. Father A. B. Wood, one of the chaplains of the Naval Veterans. With the toast was coupled the mercantile marine. Father Wood referred to the history and the achievements of the British navy and the merchant marine. He said Greater Victoria was significantly proud of its association with the Royal and Canadian navies on this coast.

CANADIAN NAVY

Commander J. E. W. Oland, D.S.C., Royal Canadian Navy, responded in part to the toast. He referred to the moment to H.M.C.S. Niobe and the valuable work done by that little ship in the first year and a half of the Great War. Captain R. W. McMurray responded on behalf of the merchant fleet and said it formed an important link between the Mother Country and the various parts of the Empire. He referred to the recent achievement of the world's largest ship, the Queen Mary, and mentioned the fact that His Majesty's ship, the Queen Mary, was master of the merchant navy and fishing fleet and also master of the honorable company of mail mariners.

ARMY AND AIR FORCE

The toast to the army and air forces was proposed by W. H. Dillaway, who maintained if a country desired to live in peace it must always be prepared for war and that Canada must increase its defence forces if it is not to continue to get protection from the Mother Country or from a friendly neighbor. He maintained that every able-bodied man in the Dominion should be trained to be able to take up arms in defence of his country should the occasion arise.

The response to the toast was given by Brigadier D. J. MacDermid, D.S.O., M.C., who also referred to the need for increase in Canada's defence force. That, he said, was becoming more apparent every day.

Victoria Presbytery Seeks Co-Operation of Anglican Bishop and Synod

The Presbytery of Victoria, United Church of Canada, at its concluding sessions in First United Church, yesterday morning, tendered sincere good wishes to Rt. Rev. H. E. The following resolution, moved by Rev. Dr. J. K. Unsworth and seconded by Rev. W. G. Wilson, was passed by the Presbytery: "At this, its first meeting after the consecration of Rt. Rev. H. E. Sexton to the Bishopric of Columbia, to succeed the late lamented Bishop Schofield, the Presbytery of Victoria of the United Church of Canada, would hereby express its joyful good wishes for the blessing of God upon him and great success in the highly responsible office of episcopal ministry."

"And, having in view the fact that the territory of the Diocese of Columbia and that of the Presbytery of Victoria are practically co-terminous, the Presbytery would express its earnest desire to co-operate with the Bishop and the members of the Synod of Columbia, as far as that may be possible, in promoting the cause of Christ and the extension of His Kingdom in this district."

Resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent to Bishop Sexton and the Chancellor of the Synod.

ARE INTERESTED IN ISLAND CAUSE

H. D. Twigg Addresses Series of Meetings Up-Island—Vancouver Man Converted

H. D. Twigg, organizer for the Vancouver Island Provincial Association, returned to the city last night after holding a series of meetings at Up-Island centres. He said he had found a ready sympathy with the aims of the association and a keen appreciation of the unfair treatment accorded to the Islanders in the past.

He spoke at Parksville on Friday, Campbell River on Saturday and on Monday he addressed the Business Men's Club at Port Alberni at luncheon and spoke to a public meeting in the evening. On Tuesday he spoke at Qualicum. At all these places, he stated, committees are in process of formation, while another is being organized at Chemainus. "Not only are the residents of the Island interested," he said, "but also fair minded men and women in other parts of the province. At one of the Up-Island meetings a Vancouver businessman attended, and at the conclusion of the address rose and declared that he was convinced that the Island had been most unfairly treated and should have the right to work out its own destiny. He said he would go back to Vancouver and urge his friends to insist upon a new deal for Vancouver Island."

SEEK MUNICIPAL BURIAL GROUND

Asking that the Esquimalt Council establish or set aside a piece of ground suitable for a municipal burial park, a letter will be forwarded from the Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association. This action was decided last night, when the matter was discussed at length and the report of a special investigation committee heard at the Queen of Peace Church Hall.

At previous meetings members said they considered costs of burial were unreasonably high and the establishment of a municipal burial park and, in future, a municipal undertaking parlor. The committee was asked to inquire into cremation costs. Considering possible candidates for the coming municipal elections, several members, including President F. H. Rees, declared they favored Councilor Fred Eaton for the re-election. A special meeting to deal with nominations will be called at a later date.

Much of the present "bickering" on the council would be eliminated if a woman was made a member. Councilor Eaton suggested, adding the presence of a council woman might curtail the present policy of "continually passing by-law giving more powers to the reeve."

Mr. Rees told the gathering Councilor T. Harry Hodgson had stated he did not understand the reeve's election. Accordingly the organization had to make a concerted effort to fill the vacancy with one of their candidates.

The question of bus services in Esquimalt was also discussed, and laid over to another meeting.

Court of Appeal
Victoria Sittings
F. H. Simpson vs. B.C. Nickel Mines, Limited: An appeal from the judgment of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court dated the 10th of January, 1936.

Plaintiff defendant company by its president for financial assistance in the way of a loan of shares in the Vancouver Ice & Cold Storage Company, Ltd., to be deposited in the bank as collateral. A certificate for seventy shares preferred stock was handed over, and the company gave a note to the plaintiff as security for $5,000 at 7 per cent at three months. The note was not met at maturity and the stock was still under hypothecation, but an extension was arranged and eventually the stock was returned and the note was surrendered.

When the stock was lent to the company it was worth $95 on the market and when it was returned the quotation was $25. "There was a verbal understanding between the president and the plaintiff for remuneration, or consideration, for the loan of the stock at $5,000, but, in view of the depreciation in value while the stock was out of his control, the plaintiff claimed the difference as a suffered loss. The defendant appealed and later withdrew the appeal."

The Chief Justice gave judgment for the plaintiff in $3,850 and costs, without any written reasons.

Hitler and his Foreign Minister, Baron Konstantin von Neurath.

As far as the League of Nations was concerned, it was reliably reported to have rejected a reorganization plan that would be virtually a dictatorship of Great Powers to administer the collective security of Europe.

WOULD THEN RETURN

Germany, it was reported, agreed to return to the League fold only if such a plan were effected. Both nations also with a new Locarno Treaty based on the old one. It was said, which included France, Belgium, Great Britain, Germany and Italy. Both nations were reliably understood to have rejected a British proposal to divide the treaty into two parts, one for Northern and the other for Southern Europe.

Danubian regions would be split into zones of commercial influence under the German-Italian accords.

ADVISED TO EAT BRAN FOR HER CONSTIPATION

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Helps Miss Hanson

Read this enthusiastic, voluntary letter:—"Just a line to let you know how much I appreciate Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. I was troubled with constipation. I asked my doctor what to do. He said to eat bran."

"I tried other brands but they weren't so good, so I tried Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, and it is just wonderful. It makes delicious muffins, too."—Miss Agnes Hanson (address upon request).

ALL-BRAN provides mild "bulk"—missing in the average meal. This delicious cereal also furnishes vitamin B and iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN absorbs moisture, and gently exercises and cleanses the system. It is often more effective than that found in fruits and vegetables, as it does not break down in the body. ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B and iron.

Isn't this natural food pleasanter than patent medicines? Just eat two tablespoons daily. If not relieved, see your doctor.

Sold by all grocers. ALL-BRAN is much more effective than part-bran products. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

"Constipation due to insufficient 'bulk' in meals."

GIVES ADVICE TO TEACHERS

Mrs. Allon Peebles Speaks On "Place of Music in Modern Life."

"The Place of Music in the Life of Today" was the subject of an interesting talk given by Mrs. Allon Peebles, president of the Victoria Musical Art Society, at the luncheon of the Victoria Music Teachers' Association held yesterday at the Green Lantern immediately following the regular monthly meeting at the Y.W.C.A.

Fifty years ago, the home was the centre of musical life. Today music had broadened out in every direction, and became national and international in its expression, said the speaker. In this spoon-fed, easy-getting age, the average individual was content to sit back and listen. He did not have to dig down and get things for himself as did his ancestors.

Music to be of most benefit should not be considered from the standpoint of the professional. Directly a hobby became a vocation, it lost some of its values. There were many approaches to music. The layman learned music to please himself; the professional learned music to pass on to others. One of the most important features of all learning should be to cultivate the ability to listen. It was much easier to get the average child to use his fingers rather than his ears.

In this modern material age it was difficult to keep the cultural side of life alive. There was a strong tendency to push music into the background. In order to preserve the life of music, such groups as the music and energetic executive, individually and collectively, strive to keep alive the love of the beautiful in every child.

BUSINESS SESSION

At the business meeting that preceded the luncheon, Reginald Cox, the president, in the chair, twenty members were present to hear the reports of secretary, treasurer and corresponding secretary. In the correspondence was a letter from Miss Gertrude Straight, one of the members, now studying for her M.A. degree at the University of Toronto.

A report of the provincial annual meeting held in Victoria in July was read, this giving members a review of the activities of the British Columbia Music Teachers' Association during the past year, a strong and energetic executive was elected for the current year.

Members were reminded of the joint pupils' recital to be held shortly, the date to be decided within a week. Mrs. George Dyke, in charge, Miss Owen Harper, convenor of the programme committee, pro tem, requested that details of the programme for the recital be sent to her by mail not later than November 10. George Dyke asked the support of the association for the Seattle Symphony here on November 5.

George Dyke moved the vote of thanks to Mrs. Peebles and Miss Beatrice Griffin moved the thanks to Mrs. Mary McCoy Jamieson, convenor of the luncheon.

Funeral services will be conducted at the residence, Salt Spring Island, this afternoon, at 1:30 o'clock. Rev. Thomas Keyworth will officiate following which the remains will be laid at rest in the family plot in the St. Mary's Cemetery at Puffin Harbor. Sands Mortuary, Limited, is in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Lee was a member of the 15th Brigade, C.F.A., and attended the reunion of that unit in Victoria last May.

was completely gutted by the flames, only the blackened walls remained standing. The National Dollar store likewise was a total loss.

Guilford Whitney, president and owner of Whitney's, estimated his concern's loss at $1,500,000, including $750,000 stock. He said this was covered by insurance.

LARGE EXTRA SUM NEEDED FOR SCHOOLS

Saanich Trustees Are Faced With Prospect of Having To Secure $7,000

NEW CURRICULUM IS TO PROVE EXPENSIVE

Faced with the prospect of securing $7,000 or over for the new Provincial Department of Education public school curriculum, with a balance of approximately $850 on hand, the Saanich School Board at Royal Oak last evening instructed the principals of thirteen schools to prepare lists of the vast number of new books and additional equipment needed. Trustee Walter P. Jeune presided.

Trustee Jeune pointed out roughly $900 remained of unexpended school funds, and he could see at least $7,000 needed for books and equipment. He stated he would hesitate to ask the Saanich Council for additional funds this year, and the new curriculum would have to be introduced step by step.

CHANGE FOR THE BEST

Trustee William Tomes declared the new curriculum was a change for the best, would relieve monotony and would be of great benefit to the rising generation. Children were the backbone of the nation. He expected the Saanich Council would view with gloom the extra sum required in 1937 estimates.

Trustee F. G. Aldous regretted those who devised the new course of studies did not take into account the huge extra cost to school boards throughout British Columbia. He stressed necessity of teaching self-control and moderation in schools, because their lack was the cause of all individual and national crime.

TEACHERS HEARD

In welcoming twelve Saanich school principals, Trustee Jeune said they had been invited to discuss the new course of studies ordered by the Department of Education. Asking for the absolute minimum requirements, he was told the following list of books and equipment were needed at the present time:

Microscopes, chemicals, laboratory apparatus, footballs, basketballs, softball, laboratory manuals, 147 health books, 896 English books, 135 books on social studies, seventy-eight books of elementary science, twenty-six song books, 136 copies of sheet music, thirteen pitch pipes, phonographs and records, large quantities of plasticine and exercise paper, and shelves or cupboards for books.

TO OBTAIN PRICES

Trustee Capt. Nathaniel Gray asked principals their opinions of the new curriculum. The majority believed it would prove beneficial to pupils. Principals were requested to prepare full lists of all new books and extra equipment required and turn them into the board secretary, Robert Brydon, before December 15. Prices will then be obtained.

Principals should be in a position to give full confidential reports on substitute teachers, Trustee Gray thought. They replied they would be glad to do so.

It was decided by the board to break up the library of 650 books and distribute them to schools for reference and study purposes. Trustee A. E. Hull suggested a committee of four principals carry out the undertaking.

WILLIAM H. LEE TAKEN BY DEATH

Was Born on Salt Spring Island Forty-Eight Years Ago—Funeral Today

There passed away suddenly, on Tuesday, at the family residence, Puffin Harbor, South Salt Spring Island, William Hudson "Bill" Lee, aged forty-eight years. He was born on Salt Spring Island, where he resided all his life, excepting during the period when he served in the Great War.

He left Victoria in 1916 with the 62nd Battery, C.F.A., and in England was transferred. He became a member of the 58th Battery, with which he served as shoeing smith. He was one of the most popular members of that unit, his cheerfulness and good nature under the most trying conditions being a source of inspiration to his comrades. He returned to his farm on Salt Spring in 1919.

Mr. Lee is survived by his widow and two sons, Arthur and Elmer, at home, and six sisters, Mrs. William Muggridge, Vancouver, Mrs. Bertha Farrington and Mrs. M. C. Sands, Victoria, Mrs. P. C. Mallet, Puffin Harbor, C.F.A., and attended the reunion of that unit in Victoria last May.

Funeral services will be conducted at the residence, Salt Spring Island, this afternoon, at 1:30 o'clock. Rev. Thomas Keyworth will officiate following which the remains will be laid at rest in the family plot in the St. Mary's Cemetery at Puffin Harbor. Sands Mortuary, Limited, is in charge of arrangements.

MUNICIPAL AID NEED STRESSED

Interior Cities Paying From Seventeen to Twenty Mills
More in 1936

"The municipalities have got to have help. Reduction in Provincial grants and increases in social service costs make a tremendous difference to interior cities this year, compared with their budgets in 1929," Mayor T. A. Love, Grand Forks, commented here yesterday on the question of Provincial-municipal relations.

Past president of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, which he led for two years, Mr. Love said that Nelson, Trail and Grand Forks had been heavily affected by the variation of Government assistance.

"The difference in Grand Forks works out at 20 mills. In Trail it is 17 mills and in Nelson 18 mills. That means that lower grants and bigger social service bills have put a strain on the municipalities—that they cannot indefinitely support. And so far as we in the interior are concerned, something has got to be done about it," Mayor Love concluded.

Found Senseless On the Sidewalk

VANCOUVER, Oct. 21 (P)—John Clark was in hospital here last night suffering a lacerated face and head injuries. The man was found lying unconscious on the sidewalk by police after they had received a telephone call that three men were seen rifling his pockets.

Clark was unable to tell officers what had happened.

His condition was described as "fairly good."

"Steward," a "little rough this morning, sir. Have you breakfasted?"

Unhappy Voyager: "Thank you, no. On the contrary."

SESSION STAFF IS COMPLETED

Government and Opposition
Groups to Have Separate
Stenographers

Matching the wisdom of a Solomon, Mr. Speaker Perry is providing separate accommodation and different stenographers for each section of the Opposition at the coming session of the British Columbia Legislature.

Five stenographers have now been selected for the Government and its supporters, including Misses A. Dawson, P. Penhock, R. Norris, M. Pass and M. Winterbottom, for sessional work.

Other sessional stenographers include Miss M. Langley for the Connell group of four members; Miss A. McElean for the official C.C.F.

group of three members, and Miss L. Bowron for independent members.

The problem of quarters for three different groups in the Opposition is still being worked out. Sessional staffs are now complete.

Possibility that Conservative elements holding four independent seats in the House might get together and make a bid for the official Opposition appear remote, with the session to commence on Tuesday next and no move yet made in that direction.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 21 (P)—Harvard Observatory announced last night a cable from Copenhagen reported the discovery, October 7, of another nova, or new star, in the constellation Aquila.

It was made by the Swedish astronomer Nils Tamm, at his private observatory, "Kvistaberg," at Bro, some fifty odd miles north of Stockholm.

MEETS BARRAGE OF ROTTEN EGGS

Communist Candidate for President Prevented From Making Speech in Terre Haute

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 21 (P)—Citizens blocked both front and rear entrances to Radio Station WBOV here last night, hurled rotten eggs at Earl Browder, Communist candidate for president, and prevented him from entering the station to make a scheduled radio campaign speech.

Browder left the radio station after he had been showered with rotten eggs and returned to his hotel, where he sent word from his room he would not make any further attempt to give the speech to-night but would take the matter up in the courts tomorrow.

No matter what a husband does, his wife always knew he would.

STEVENS HITS LABOR ABUSES

Former Minister at Vancouver Denounces Unethical Business Practices

VANCOUVER, Oct. 21.—Echoes of the Price Spreads Commission instigated by Hon. H. H. Stevens, M.P., are still sounding in Canada's commercial corridors.

"They were awakened Monday afternoon when the former minister of trade and commerce, in a forceful address, challenged the Board of Trade to establish a 'court of commerce' in an endeavor to crush such business cankers as price-cutting, secret rebates, 'loss leaders,' mass-buying and other unethical practices which he wholeheartedly denounced."

"Are you willing to condemn such practices?" the former minister demanded, in closing an address before the Board of Trade advertising bureau luncheon in Hotel Georgia. "Are you willing to declare to the world that such things are beyond the pale?"

DO DUTY NOW

"Is the Board of Trade willing? Is the Chamber of Commerce of Canada willing?" he continued. "Would you accept such a suggestion?"

"I'd like to make it to every Board of Trade in Canada. Why let the minority destroy the welfare of the majority? You can't tell me Canadian businessmen have any use for that sort of thing. Don't wait for Fascism or Communism; do your duty now to your community and your country. If you don't you will fasten economic shackles around your necks forever."

The speaker explained that it is quite possible for Canadian boards of trade to establish courts of commerce as they are empowered to do so under the Board of Trade Act. When established, such tribunals could arbitrate business practices, he said, and would be able to do much to stamp out abuses.

TELLS OF BUSINESS ABUSES

As a prelude to his appeal, the speaker related a number of business abuses uncovered in the report of the Price Spreads Commission, copies of which he asserted should be read by every businessman.

He drew word pictures of honest, independent businessmen struggling to keep their heads above water in competition with ruthless, price-cutting corporations; of farmers desperately striving to make a living under the burden of ridiculously low produce prices, and of secret rebates "discriminatory dis-

CONSIDER NEW BUS FRANCHISE

New Westminster May Put
Private Bill Before Legislature

New Westminster may submit a private bill to the Legislature concerning bus franchises. Premier Pattullo intimated yesterday, after Mayor Fred Hume of the Royal City had discussed the city's application with members of the Government.

Mayor Hume indicated that legislation might be sought to extend New Westminster's authority in regard to the term of any franchise given for bus operation in that area, in lieu of tramway operation or otherwise.

The details of the scheme were not stated, but authority to insure a franchise for a period of up to twelve years was mentioned by New Westminster officials.

The Government withheld comment on the plan, but will probably allow introduction of the bill as a private measure.

GLORIFIED SLAVES

Varied are the opinions that come from those who have traveled in Russia, but upon one point all seem to be agreed, namely, that the people give little or no visual expression of happiness under the Soviet regime. It is a dull nation that is being developed. It takes its pleasures sadly and has lost all sense of humor. It goes about its tasks automatically and "nitchevo" seems to be its motto. That, at least, is the opinion of Mrs. Frank C. Henderson, of New York, who has just returned from a trip to the Soviet realm, and who, as a result of her experiences because of diet and other adverse conditions, is now resting in a sanatorium. She has written to a New York paper, telling of her observations, and here are some of them:

"There is no home life in Russia, no religion, no sentiment and no romance. How can the people be happy? They are glorified slaves, property of the Government. They say they are happy, but you never see smiles on their faces. They sing, but their songs are usually sad and monotonous. Only the marching soldiers sing with energy. They mill around the streets, because many of them are crowded into one room; I was told they have to sleep in shifts. Sanitary conditions are frightful, except in the first-class hotels. Soap is a luxury. . . . Typical of Russian habits were those of a woman I saw eating. She wiped her hands on her skirt, then on the ground, and calmly went on munching. There was more than I cannot describe; but the Russians blame all this on the ignorance of the old regime. How the women stared open-mouthed at my shoes! Most of them have only sneakers. Poor things, they're women and they long for pretty things. No matter how grimy the hands, lots of them have managed to get red for their finger-nails. You see plenty of permanent waves, but almost no stockings. I nearly died without vegetables, which we couldn't get. We had plenty of potatoes, and I thanked Heaven I had some Irish in me."

PROBLEM OF POPULATION

Various countries become alarmed from time to time because of what are claimed to be dwindling populations. This has been the case in France, perhaps more than any other nation, and also in Great Britain. The fact is, however, that population the world over continues to expand and at a progressively-increasing rate. It is estimated that ninety years ago the population of the world was 1,000,000,000, whereas today it is approaching 2,000,000,000. There has been a wave of births and a fall in the death rate. In Europe, where there has been more perturbation about the loss of population than anywhere else, the population was 140,000,000 ninety years ago and it is 519,000,000 today.

Population growth, says a correspondent in The London Times, "is on the same epic scale as invention, expansion, and production in the economic sphere which made it possible and which it made possible." This commentator says, however, that those who find in over-population the source of many contemporary troubles "should recall that many of those troubles have only begun with the decline in the birth-rate of the population of Europe, which promises, if it goes on unchecked, to have the same epic proportions and results as the population of the nineteenth century."

The claim made by those who have investigated the subject closely is that the trend of population is turning and that it will soon be on the decline. Very little that is happening on the earth as a whole bears this contention out. The population of England and Wales has trebled in a hundred years. That of North America has grown from 26,000,000 in 1850 to 137,000,000 in 1933. Whatever trend there is towards a reducing rate of population increase is due to man, not to Nature. There is evidence of a decreasing birth-rate, but the death-rate is decreasing as well. In England and Wales, between 1851 and 1860, the natural increase was 15.1 per cent a year; now it is between 2 and 4 per cent. Professor Carr-Saunders, a noted investigator on the subject, believes that the numbers of the British race will "fall catastrophically" during the next fifty years.

The writer in The London Times asks "How urgent is this problem?" He then says: "In France and the United States the birth-rate has been falling since the beginning of the last century; in this country since 1876. The experts, assuming the persistence of present rates of fertility and maturity—an optimistic assumption—have made estimates for the future. These are disputed, but they have been noted by several European Governments, and there is no reason why they should be ignored here. Assuming that the British birth-rate declines at the same rate as during the period 1924-1931, that mortality falls and emigration equals immigration, Dr. Leybourn calculates that our population forty years hence will be 32,700,000, a decline of 12,000,000 in forty years. Another estimate, with different assumptions—not unreasonably pessimistic—puts the population at 38,500,000 in 1975 and 20,000,000 a hundred years hence."

Estimates on a similar basis are made for France and also for Germany. Statistics show that all over Europe, except in Russia, the reproduction rate is falling. Professor Carr-Saunders says that "the position is not that a problem will be created if fertility continues to fall, but that a problem has been created by the present low rate of fertility." The writer in The Times says that the first step towards action is an easy one, namely, publicity for the problem and full authoritative investigation. He asks how an economic structure would adapt itself to a sudden shrinkage in its markets; to a fall in the demand for foodstuffs, houses, land and education, and what would be the effect of the increased burden of taxation a head.

The situation as visualized by the experts is for a large increase in the proportion of elderly persons and a large decrease in the number of young and able-bodied. The problem was drawn attention to by Mr. Neville Chamberlain in last year's Budget Speech when he conceded income tax relief to those who are carrying on the race. What that means, however, according to The Times writer, is little more than a pebble thrown to stem the tide. He claims there is danger in allowing a situation to arise where population will fall rapidly and in such a way as to cause economic dislocation. France, Germany and Italy are alive to the situation and are appealing to patriotic sentiment and national pride.

OUT OF THE PRISON-HOUSE

The pathos of our common humanity is in the story in yesterday morning's paper of the parting of Helen Keller from her long-time teacher and beloved friend, Anne Sullivan Macy. For half a century they had been as Siamese twins of the spirit. The teacher had led the sightless-deaf-mute out of darkness into a marvelous light, and the companionship of these two has been an unwritten lyric. Now the light-bearer has herself gone out into the darkness. The silver cord is loosened; the golden bowl is broken.

According to the news story, the former pupil and the loving companion sought to continue that fellowship, so long unbroken. Her fingertips touch those that first brought to her the miracle of understanding. They moved over the lips that had been to her windows of the soul; but in vain. In the cycle of being the physical framework had reached its terminus. The lines of communication are broken and there is darkness.

Yet these two were women of faith. These were sisters of the spirit. They have long known the light that does not shine or sea or land. One can well imagine the confidence of her who is left here in the flesh concerning her who has passed out of sight. Helen Keller has often unbared her soul to the world, and it is no intrusion upon her sorrow to attempt to voice her faith: "My sister brought me out of the prison-house into liberty and light. Now, out of the prison-house of the physical she has entered into heavenly liberty and eternal light. I shall follow her thither."

NATIONAL ANTHEM MISQUOTED

Too large a proportion of the good patriotic people of this city, as well as visitors who join them in singing the National Anthem, must be adjudged guilty of misquoting that time-honored and oft-repeated stanza that alone, ordinarily, is used in expressing loyalty to the Throne. More frequently than usual has "God save the King" been sung during the past season, with what scores of Show Boat gatherings, including those of Sunday night, and a large run of public functions and church ceremonies. More frequently has the thoughtless—or it may be the unlearned—minority, while correct in the tune, defaulted in the words. Such persons persist, at the third line and the last, in singing "God save our King" instead of "God save the King." The former version is against the rules. There are variants of "O Canada," but not of that prayer that binds us to the Throne and the Empire.

THE EARTH AND MAN

A little sun, a little rain,
A soft wind blowing from the west—
And woods and fields are sweet again,
And warmth within the mountain's breast.
So simple is the earth we tread,
So simple with love and life and frame;
Ten thousand years have dawned and fled,
And still her magic is the same.
A little love, a little trust,
A soft impulse, a sudden dream—
And life as dry as desert dust,
Is fresher than a mountain stream.
So simple is the heart of man,
So ready for new hope and joy;
Ten thousand years since it began
Have left it younger than a boy.
—Storford Augustus Brooke.

BRITISH RECOVERY

Again the British Chancellor of the Exchequer is able to show a new surplus on the year's business. It seems that England has recovered about 80 per cent of her prosperity and some of ours—New Yorker.

Note and Comment

By Anon.

Further researches into the fine art of "how-not-to-do-it" have led me to the inescapable conclusion that there is a real need for an authentic work on how to treat the press, more particularly on how to establish at the outset a dominant, compelling attitude in dealing with reporters. For the benefit of busy executives who have not time to learn through regular correspondence schools, I herewith set out at least the cardinal principles concerned.

First, the Approach: Wait until five minutes before The Clarion goes to press, and then call the editor. Don't accept a substitute. Insist on telling him in person about your red-hot report as past-president of the Gamma Ipsilon Society upon the terminal velocity of beetles in flight. Tell him you are busy, but you have heard that one before. Stay with it. In time you will get the City Editor, who oddly enough has something to do with the working time of reporters. If not their dispositions.

With the City Editor: Don't ask him, but demand that the City Editor send you a reporter, immediately. He's got lots of them, anyway, and that's what they are for. Better still, ask for a senior man—ask for Blogs. What do you care if Blogs is busy in the courts, or at the City Hall, Demand Blogs, or else. Don't be too vexed about missing today's paper. Remember it was entirely unreasonable of them not to stop the presses for you. Why, they only had to press a button, and the thing would be done!

While you've got the City Editor on the line, remind him that your paper was thrown at the foot of the front steps on two mornings last week. Put a sneer into your voice, and ask: "Is that what you call service?" Tell him to get Blogs over to your office pronto—that you can't wait all day for a rag like The Clarion. Be sure to say "rag"; they love their paper, and that stabs them to the vitals. If you want to rub it in, tell them what The Blade did for you. What if comparisons are odious—that is your whole mission right now, to be odious.

The Reception: Long before the reporter is due to arrive at your office, instruct your secretary to keep him waiting good and plenty. Right from the start that establishes your superiority. You are giving the orders, seek! Twenty minutes (tens of 10,000 population) an hour (for cities of 60,000 people) is a reasonable time to keep a reporter waiting for a story. It is called a release, or a hand-out, so be sure to use the technical term. But no tip, mind you; the man is getting paid already, and he thinks he's in a profession.

But after all, you want to get the story in The Clarion some time, so press the buzzer, and time the next few moments most carefully. When your secretary has the door open, say in a loud, clear voice: "If the fellow from that rag, The Clarion, is here send him in, Miss Rednall." Remember to be non-chalant. As he arrives, continue reading your mail. Throw a letter or two into the waste paper basket. Ejaculate "poppycock," and "fiddlesticks" here and there, as you read others. It sets you up as a determined man, with a mind all your own.

The Interview: Now you have the reporter in your clutches. If it is not Blogs, say "Oh, I asked for Blogs." That'll put the chap in his right place. If it should be a woman, say "Dear me. One would have supposed they would send a man!" That should feed her ego like nothing. Either way you are now top dog, and can dominate the entire situation. A little practice with these approaches will do wonders for you.

Start, of course, by saying that you do not want your name in the paper. After you have been begged to relent, say something like this: "Well, if you really think I should, it's all right. Not James L. Sullivan, like that rag of yours had it last time, but John Lucius Sullivan. John—J-u-n-i-o-n you know." (Reporters can neither read nor spell; that's why they call them clunks when they are young; bears when they're old). Then produce a third carbon copy of your past-presidential report on the terminal velocity of beetles. Insist on reading it verbatim. Get Miss Rednall to decipher it, if you cannot yourself.

Wrapping it up: Now, as to pictures. Pictures are important. Instruct your reporter upon no account to use that one of yourself taken last year, even though The Clarion has that cut. You know the one where you are in the third row with a tourist travel fellow in front of you. Why not that snapshot of yourself, taken as you stood in Rome in the very same square with Mussolini? Or that one taken in 1910 at Poona, when the Maharajah of Poona unrolled a light from your cigarette. There's color for you!

In Conclusion: Try to find a story in today's Clarion written by the reporter with you. Refer to it expertly as "Bismillah" and say you trust that nothing as silly as that will happen on this occasion. Then, master of the situation, you may dismiss The Clarion man. When the paper comes out tomorrow without your story, don't fret. Remember many other men went through years of difficult training before they learned—how not to do it!

O.K., Mr. Davies

Bud Davies, former boxer now a fight manager and trainer at Vancouver, comes forward with a challenge for Danny Paul, his heavyweight protégé, to box Sonny Buxton, Victoria glove thrower and claimant of the Canadian title. The Mainlander, apparently quite confident of the issue, permits me to state how completely I sympathize with the motives which prompt Messrs. Bates and McNeill to come to the defence of the Good Book. Let me assure them that I am prepared to present a perfectly satisfactory explanation. But I must not monopolize the discussion.

"C.R. MILL BY-LAW"

Sir,—In reading the report of the special meeting of the City Council held on Friday, October 15, pertaining to above by-law in The Daily Colonist of Saturday, October 17, issue, I was greatly surprised to read that Mayor M. Kirkpatrick read that Mayor M. Kirkpatrick of the unfortunate taxpayers, had expressed the hope that a minimum of Orientals would be employed, as there were certain jobs that only Chinese would tackle. Now, Mr. Editor, as one who has worked in a lumber mill for years, I am interested to learn from Mayor Crockett just what jobs around a lumber mill are such that only Chinese would tackle them. And in my opinion if Mayor Crockett favors employing Orientals in the lumber industry in preference to white people, it is just about time the unfortunate taxpayers were being relieved of the expense of providing him with a post.

OIL

Sir,—The article on "Oil and Sanctions" brings into the limelight the most important subject humankind can discuss anywhere on the surface of this old world as the view it today, and amidst all the perplexing problems and war activities with the terrible amount of absolutely unnecessary suffering and distress that follow, an interesting feature directly associated with universal peace and well-being is that the answer and way through this apparent hopeless condition is going to be found right here on the western margin of America, the home of the new civilization consisting of the world's finest characters who will be drawn towards these parts and find their places of true expression awaiting them here.

When we talk of oil we are using a word that started with the formation of the earth itself, and therefore is the oldest word in human speech.

You people of Victoria and beyond where The Colonist travels have learned something in the information just given and I would advise all to be wise as to how they use this word for it has potency and power for universal peace and world peace, not only in the word itself but in the product bearing this name.

I have followed up oil for close on twenty-five years in the Province of Alberta and have very close connection with the situation there and have become so much a part of it that all worthwhile oil formations are sensed directly and clearly without the aid of a geologist.

I have advised the Alberta Government to undertake a definite drilling out of a certain position, which they have taken no notice of, neither have I had a reply. I have endeavored to help them and have gone so far as to offer freely this location. They are making altogether too slow time in revealing this crude oil.

They encourage the drilling here and there and everywhere with so-called structures. We are tired of these structures with their usual gas shows and minor oil seepages. What we require is oil in recognized commercial oil quantities.

They still continue to drill on so-called western limbs and such like (frank locations) in the hope of striking the T.V.R. product, instead of which is repeated the same naptha gas flows.

The oil struck at the Ranchmen's well near Alderside seventeen miles to the east apparently has yet not revealed the significance of the strike followed by the T.V.R. well last June. One hardly ever hears any reference to this as "promising tremendous things in big oil to the east of the valley. I do not take in the area where the Area well is.

Hoping the health board will enlighten the public on this matter at the earliest opportunity.

ATROCITIES IN SPAIN

Sir,—In talking about the civil war in Spain, I would like to make it clearly understood to all the readers of The Daily Colonist that I have no sympathy for the Reds or the Fascists in Spain on account of their barbarous cruelties in carrying out atrocities on a large scale on both sides.

In talking about atrocities, it surprises me to hear about such a thing taking place in these days when most of the people should know better.

DEBT AND CREDIT

Sir,—I read various letters on Social Credit and tried to be patient and see their side, but a plain fact always cropped up, and that was a simple axiomatic sum. Alberta can't pay back in two instalments on a little over $3,000,000 and another $1,250,000 that she borrowed and in all fairness must pay the $4.25 million in leaving interest on the question. If she can't do that, how is she going to pay $15 a month to the thousands who register as supporters of Social Credit, except by taking the people equal to the $4.25 million and cost for government supervision. In no way can she pay a part of that but by repudiation and refusing to pay her debts. And if that is not taking freedom to the people, I don't know what is.

I mentioned before that similar schemes have been tried in the seventeenth century, that in one case caused such misery that the government had to burn its printing press in the streets for the people to see that no more of the certificates would be issued. History, as a rule, repeats itself. Will Alberta be a repetition of history? I leave to the people's own opinion.

P. J. BEADLEY.

THE SINAIIC HOP

Sir,—Mr. Bales' "hope" that his dissertation will be "helpful" is sure to be realized, for every careful reader must perceive that what he intended to be a justification of the code is, in its very detail, an apology for it. He might have spared himself the effort. Neither Abraham nor Jacob nor David was conscious of anything immoral in having a plurality of wives and concubines. The practice was almost universal not only among the great and wealthy but also among the very humble. Elkanah the father of Samuel, was a truly pious man but he had two wives and two concubines. He had two wives and two concubines. He had two wives and two concubines.

Mr. Bales is quite wrong in stating that the code forbade plurality of wives. The passage he refers to (Deut. xxi, 17) forbade kings to "multiply" wives. The whole passage (verses 14-20) refers to the reign of Solomon, who had 700 wives and 300 concubines.

Mr. Bales is equally mistaken in stating "Ruth and Naomi did not have to sell unless they approved of the purchaser." As widows, neither Naomi nor Ruth had any say in the matter. A widow could not inherit. So far from being eligible as an heir, she herself was regarded by the law as a chattel, a part of the estate that was to be inherited. The unavoidable fact is that Boaz bought Ruth, along with the estate. In the order of succession, the widow had no more place than a plough-horse.

The first-born son received a double portion (Deut. xxi, 17). Falling male issue the inheritance devolved (1) to his daughter (2) his brothers (3) his father's brothers (4) his next of kin (see Judges xxi, 1-11).

Slavery? Certainly, but not necessarily cruel as the law requires essentially was. And as an institution, slavery was not merely maintained. It was endorsed. Lev. xxi, 44-45. The law regarded him simply as so much "property." Ex. xxi, 21. A master could flog his slave to death, yet if he died did not follow immediately he was not to be punished—"If the slave lived for a day or two before divine his master is given the benefit of the doubt as to the cause of his death and the master is regarded as sufficiently punished by the loss of his slave—just so much 'damaged'." When we consider that a native-born Israelite, who had been a slave, and when caught KEEPING green the memory of Admiral Lord Nelson, who at the Battle of Trafalgar on October 21, 1805, assured to Britain the freedom of the seas, the admiral's signal was hoisted on the flagstaff at the Legislative Buildings at 10 a.m. yesterday in a brief, impressive, ceremony under auspices of the Navy League of Canada.

As the time-honored message floated out on its signal halyards under the protection of the White Ensign, representatives of Provincial, civic, and patriotic groups stood in silent tribute to the men who had

All three speakers joined in paying compliments to a smart detachment of Rainbow Sea Cadets who, with their bugle band, were drawn up in front of the flagstaff. Nearby, standard-bearers of the I.O.D.E. Girl Guides, representatives of the Navy League, and all three services, were grouped. His Honor was received by the Provincial Secretary and other officers of naval, military and air forces attending.

Swinging away from Parliament Square at the close of the ceremony to the tune of "Life On the Ocean Wave," the Rainbow Sea Cadets drew spirited applause from a crowd that gathered to watch the proceedings.

Nelson's signal remained aloft until nightfall, making a gay picture with the Autumn foliage at Parliament Square.

PRESBYTERY IS CRITICAL

Opinion Voiced That Boys' Parliament Has Outlived Its Usefulness

The United Church Presbytery of Victoria, at its closing session yesterday morning, showed itself critical of the Boys' Parliament. This is a meeting held during the Christmas holidays of representatives of the various boys' organizations connected with the Religious Education Council of this province. The resolution to that effect was presented by Rev. E. W. Horison, convener of the Presbytery's committee on religious education, and was approved by several speakers, the general opinion being that the parliament had outlived its usefulness. An informal boys' conference was suggested instead.

Two Victoria young men were given continued standing in following a course of training for the ministry, on a report given by Prof. E. S. Farr, convener of the committee on education of students for the ministry. They are H. E. Binnall, now at the University of British Columbia, and Ernest Bishop, at Victoria College, who spoke briefly.

REPORTS OF COUNCIL

Reports of the recent meeting of the United Church General Council recently held at Ottawa, as given by W. T. Strath, Rev. Dr. G. B. Switzer and Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson, proved very interesting to the delegates. Mr. Strath referred to the large proportion of business and professional men in attendance. He found that the church was truly national in its scope and spirit. Dr. Switzer commented favorably on the fact that of 200 students taking the theological course, all but nine were pursuing the prescribed long-term course, which included university training.

The earnest facing of great problems, Dr. Wilson said, characterized the 1936 council. Reference was made to the comparative youth of the new officers who are replacing veterans at headquarters. On Dr. Wilson's suggestion, the deliverance of the council on "Evangelism" will be sent to the various congregations of the Presbytery.

Fruit and vegetables as well as clothing, will be collected from the Greater Victoria next week for shipment to a drought-stricken section in the Prairie Provinces. It was stated that the need in some parts was great, if not greater, than at any time during the past eight years. The railways offer to carry such supplies free of charge. November 1 was approved, at the suggestion of the Lay Association.

Attention was called to the celebration next year of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the beginning of Presbyterianism on the Coast, and of the fifteenth anniversary of the establishment of the British Columbia Methodist Conference.

The next meeting of Presbytery, of which Arthur Lee of this city is presiding officer, will be held in February of next year.

The following were initiated as members by the vicar: Charlie Carnegie, Grace Cockerton, Oswald Himes, David McLean and Frank Spencer. The president spoke about the recent provincial conference, and the vicar gave a talk on the "Vimy Pilgrimage." Refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

ST. JOHN'S

The meeting of St. John's A.Y.P.A. was opened with the hymn, "To Thee, O Lord, Our Hearts We Raise," and prayer, with the president, Alan Payer, in the chair. ### Y.W.C.A. Board Welcomes Its Honorary President

Mrs. E. W. Hamber, Guest-of-Honor at Informal Luncheon at Young Women's Christian Association, Hears of Various Aspects of Work

In her recently accepted role as honorary president of the Victoria Young Women's Christian Association, Mrs. E. W. Hamber, chateau at Government House, was yesterday entertained at a delightful informal luncheon given by the board of directors at the hotel on Blanshard Street, and given some idea of the local, national, and international aspects of the work.

Welcomed on arrival by the president, Mrs. H. M. Cassidy, and other members of the executive, Mrs. Hamber, who was accompanied by her secretary, Mrs. Rice, was first introduced to each member of the board, the convener of committees, and the Y.W.C.A. staff before being conducted to the dining-room.

The brief address of welcome by Mrs. Cassidy, who voiced the appreciation of the members in Mrs. Hamber's acceptance of the honorary presidency, was followed by the three short outlines of Y.W.C.A. activities by Mrs. Richard Felton, convener of the girls' work department, who dealt with this aspect of the work; Mrs. Roy Angus, past president, and chairman of the finance committee, who took up the more general local activities; and Mrs. G. M. Weir, who indicated the meaning of the Y.W.C.A. in the national and international sense.

USEFUL AND HAPPY

The Y.W.C.A., through its girls' department, served in as many ways as there were girls within its range of contact, as each girl came into her group as an individual and was treated as such. Mrs. Felton explained. The many advantages of group work were pointed out. It offered the girl not only scope for individual development, but an avenue for usefulness and a new field for endeavor. Handicraft, gymnasium, choral group, study clubs, home nursing, service projects, discussion groups, courses in personality development, classes in swimming, games, and numerous other activities gave girls a healthy direction for their energies and interests.

In referring to the more general activities of the local association, Mrs. Angus particularly mentioned that the Victoria Y.W.C.A. was one of the first in Canada to put on a household workers' training course, and had also from the beginning supported the ideal contained in the national association's code for household workers. While the Victoria Y.W.C.A. did not actually conduct an employment agency, it was often called on both by girls and employers to act in this capacity. The Women's Workroom had been assisted, at its inception, by the Y.W.C.A., which also conducted a travelers' aid, was open at all times, night and day. By providing a meeting place for various other agencies in the city, it was still further proving its place as a real community centre.

BEHIND PEACE

"The Y.W.C.A. has definitely stood behind the program for world peace," Mrs. G. M. Weir noted in her outline of the national and international aspects of the work. This ideal of peace had overriden all differences in race, language, politics, and religion, and the fact that fifty-two countries were knit together in its banner by "the golden thread of common idealism" showed that the Y.W.C.A. was no mere force in the matter of world peace. In the last war, ten million youths went to their death. The attainment of a common understanding and tolerance of other nations and their differing points of view was surely something worth working for. The Y.W.C.A. in all countries had definitely stood behind the ideal of peace.

Members of the executive board and committees seated around the charmingly appointed tables decorated with bowls of pale amber single chrysanthemums were Mrs. H. M. Cassidy, president; Mrs. John Baxter, first vice-president; Mrs. G. M. Weir, second vice-president; Mrs. Allan Peebles, recording secretary; Miss A. J. Fawcett, corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. E. Cushing, general secretary; the following members of the board: Mesdames Roy Angus, Richard Felton, W. N. Gunning, J. M. Hatt, B. S. Heisterman, E. W. Hetherington, J. D. Hunter, E. I. W. Jardine, J. M. Patterson, and Miss Jean MacLaren and Miss Agnes Spencer.

Conveners of committees, staff and others: Miss W. Graham, Mrs. W. G. Hamilton, Mrs. J. T. Jones, Mrs. D. B. Keir, Mrs. E. A. Lewis, Miss J. C. McIlwraith, Mrs. A. Parfitt, Mrs. P. J. Rumble, Mrs. John Walker, Mrs. W. Walker, Mrs. H. P. Hodges, Miss Bruce, Mrs. R. Craig, Miss M. Peach, and Miss M. Ryan. Mesdames Alex. T. Stewart, G. M. Weir, E. I. W. Jardine, and J. M. Hatt were in charge of the arrangements.

Landlady: "I've dropped a fork. That means a stranger's coming." Boarder: "Let's hope it is the butcher."

Nurses Are Invited to Hear Talk

An interesting description of the work being done by the Florence Nightingale International Foundation scholarships in giving nurses' training courses at Bedford College, London, was given by Miss Christine Murray, newly-appointed instructor of nurses at Royal Jubilee Hospital, at an informal gathering of members of the profession held at the home of Mrs. E. J. Herbert, 2717 Grosvenor Road, last evening.

A graduate of the Royal Victoria Hospital nurses' training school, Toronto, Miss Murray became a student at Bedford College in 1924, remaining for a year, and since then spending a year in Saskatchewan before coming here to take over her appointment at Jubilee Hospital.

EDUCATIONAL MEMORIAL

The Florence Nightingale International Foundation, she explained, was an educational memorial to the late Florence Nightingale, originally established by the League of Red Cross societies for post-graduate study. In 1924 this was taken over from the Red Cross by the International Council of Nurses, who have carried on the course at Bedford College in connection with the University of London and in conjunction with the College of Nurses. These two last collaborate in giving splendid courses in public health nursing, hospital administration, and teaching in schools of nursing, and in social service work.

While she was at the college, four different countries were represented in the student body. Fifteen graduate nurses were present at the informal gathering to hear Miss Murray, and after her talk, refreshments were served. Miss Dorothy Frampton presiding at the tea table, and Miss Martha MacBride and Mrs. William Leal assisting the hostess.

Big Man—Drat them flies; they are a nuisance. Small Man—It's funny they never bother me. Big Man—They haven't seen you yet.

KEEPS OUT OF FAMILY FIGHT

Four Liberals Among Five Seeking Election for Seat In Ottawa

OTTAWA, Oct. 21 (C)—The Federal Government will not take any side in the by-election campaign in East Ottawa, where five candidates are contesting the vacancy created by the appointment to the Supreme Court of Ontario of E. R. E. Chevrier, who held the seat for the Liberal party.

Justice Minister Ernest Lapointe, acting leader of the Government, issued the following brief statement following yesterday's Cabinet Council: "In the absence of official opposition in the Ottawa East by-election, the Government is not disposed to intervene in a family fight."

FOUR ARE LIBERALS

Official candidate of the Liberal convention is Albert Pinard, former member of the provincial Legislature. Other candidates are Dr. Rufus Parent, Mrs. W. T. O'Regan and William Unger, all Liberals, and Jean Tassot, who is running under auspices of the local Union National Society. The by-election will be held on Monday.

At a meeting last night, Dr. Parent declared he had been informed by Mr. Lapointe the Government did not recognize Mr. Pinard as the official Liberal candidate. The Acting Prime Minister would not make any comment beyond the brief statement quoted.

TELEVISION TUBES THE NEXT PROSPECT

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 (C)—Television tubes, small in size, but powerful enough to project images on a screen, are the next important prospect in the laboratory research into movies by radio, Dr. O. H. Caldwell, former Federal radio commissioner, declared tonight. That will mean, he explained, compact picture receivers about the size of present-day broadcast sets.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

"Dear Chief:

"In a recent article you ventured the opinion that 'average players' lose away many thousands of points in every session. A week or so later you reported that a few of your readers had objected to this estimate on the ground that 'they certainly did not chuck any appreciable number of points.'

"Yesterday I kibitzed a computer's contract game that, for sheer 'twinges,' surpassed anything in my experience. You may find the four hands I am enclosing of sufficient interest to use in your column. They came up consecutively, when North and South were vulnerable (East and West were not), and as you will see, the playing of the South player alone, leaving aside all questions of bidding, cost him and his partner a total of 8,000 points. The first hand was this:

NORTH
♠ A 8	♥ A K 7 5 3	♦ A 3 2	♣ A 3 2
♠ 9 4 3	♥ 10 9 4	♦ 7 6 5 3	♣ 10 2
♠ 10 9 4	♥ 8 7 6 5	♦ 10 2	♣ 9 8 4
SOUTH
♠ K Q J 10 7 5 2	♥ A K 4	♦ A K Q J	♣ A K 4

"The bidding:

West North East South
 Pass Pass 1♥ 2♥
 Pass 2 NT Pass 3♥
 Pass 7♥ Pass Pass

"South's six spade leap was not bad, in my opinion. He merely relied on North to furnish a usable ace and some playing tricks on which the third diamond could be discarded or ruffed. North, however, evidently felt that his two aces had not been sufficiently disclosed and took the bit in his teeth by going to seven.

"West opened the ten of hearts. Dummy covered, as did East, and declarer ruffed. He played out all

WARREN WILLIAM STARS AS SLEUTH

Baffling Detective Picture Brought To Screen of Plaza Theatre Today

Perry Mason, the debonaire lawyer, who solves murders in his day's work, has become a Hollywood institution, rivaling Sherlock Holmes as a perennial detective character.

Different from other sleuths, however, the fiction character created by Eric Stanley Gardner, has been portrayed by only one actor, Warren William. Philo Vance another popular film detective has been more peddler who uses his trade to know exactly what's happening.

The third of the Perry Mason pictures, "The Case of the Lucky Legs," with William in the stellar role, comes to the Plaza Theatre today.

Two Highly-Rated Films at Oak Bay

A diverting piece of funny business, crammed with lively action and laughs galore is the romantic comedy, "Hands Across the Table," which is one-half of the programme shown today. Featured as a companion picture is "Dangerous," a city-life thriller with Betty Davis, Franchot Tone, Margaret Lindsay and Allison Skipworth in the leading roles.

"Hands Across the Table" is a laugh riot from start to finish, which centres around a poor but ambitious musician, Charlie Lombard, and a penniless young socialite, who tried to live up to an agreement that each shall marry a millionaire, with love as a negligible factor.

Chorus Conductor Has Experiences

Few pictures this season have presented a supporting cast bolder with such glittering lights as stud the roster of "Swing Time," the delightful musical, co-starring Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers at the Capitol Theatre Saturday.

As Astaire's buddy, in heredomain, Victor Moore heads the featured cast. Recruited from the Broadway musical comedy stage on which he appeared in such memorable hits as "Anything Goes" and "Of Thee I Sing," Moore is paired with Helen Broderick another footlight comedy ace in "Swing Time."

Betty Furness, charming character, completes a romantic triangle involving Fred and Ginger.

COMMITTEE TO TAKE CONTROL

Umpire Will Settle Questions At Issue Between Rival Labor Groups

OTTAWA, Oct. 21 (P.)—A provisional committee will have full control of the All-Canadian Congress of Labor pending a convention to choose a new executive. Announcement was made last night as part of the agreement reached between two rival groups for leadership of the organization.

Meanwhile, Senator J. A. McDonald, Shediac, N.B., will act as umpire to settle all questions at issue between the parties and any question arising out of the settlement. His decision will be final.

INJUNCTION DISSOLVED

The agreement was reached over the week-end and presented to Mr. Justice J. A. Hope, of the Ontario High Court, for his consideration. As a result, Judge Hope yesterday at Toronto dissolved an injunction taken out by A. R. Mosher against W. T. Burford.

Mosher claimed to be president following a convention at Toronto a few weeks ago at which he was elected. Burford, who had been secretary-treasurer, contended the Toronto convention was representative only of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, Mosher's own organization. The injunction was to restrain Burford from dealing with the assets or the books and papers in the executive offices here.

FLAMES DESTROY HOME AT SALT AIR

CHENAINUS, Oct. 21.—The home of K. Thornley at Saltair was completely destroyed by fire on Tuesday morning. The blaze, which apparently started above the ceiling, was noticed by Mrs. Thornley about 11 a.m., when she first heard a crackling noise.

Mrs. Thornley was alone with Mrs. Thornley, Sr., at the time, and the two women had barely time to rescue a few personal belongings before the heat was so intense they could not re-enter the one-story four-room building. Having no telephone they were unable to summon assistance, and by the time neighbors arrived the building and its contents were a total loss.

Mr. Thornley is employed by the Victoria Lumber & Manufacturing Co., Ltd., at Chemainus, where Mrs. Thornley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mainwaring, also reside. Mr. and Mrs. Thornley are staying with Mr. and Mrs. Mainwaring for the present.

VICTORIA MAN REPORTS ACUTE ASTHMA ENDED

WOULD HAVE SAVED $200 IF HARRIS' WONDRO TAKEN SOONER

Here is a thrilling story of rapid and lasting recovery from the weakening effects of asthma. Read the praise this Victoria resident has for Harris' Wondro in the following letter.

"Dear Sir: I feel it is my moral duty to testify as to what Harris' Wondro has done for me. Eight years ago, while working in a shingle mill, I got what is called cedar poisoning of the chest and it left me with a bad cough. I was advised to take a sea trip and spent two months in California and returned considerably relieved. I went back to my old job in the mill upon request, but within two days after returning, some more cedar dust got into my lungs and caused me so much suffering that I thought my last hour had come. I then gave up that class of work and took a janitor's job, which saved me from a bad cough. One of the fumes from the furnace and back came the asthma, and believe me I sure did suffer again. I had to sit for hours at an open window, as I could hardly breathe. My weight dropped to 135 pounds, which normally was 155. I paid over $80 for prescriptions and hypodermics, but gave up in disgust, as they did me no good. I tried several asthma preparations, but only got temporary relief. I was desperate, as life was not worth living.

I saw your advertisement in the paper one day and decided to give Harris' Wondro a trial. I gained four pounds with the first bottle and the asthma left me entirely. The furnace fumes didn't trouble me in the least and have not bothered me since and that was three years ago. I look about four bottles at the time and I certainly wish I had known about Harris' Wondro before, as I would have been $200 ahead of the game, minus the suffering, viz.: Trip to California, $100; prescriptions and hypodermics, $80; other medicines, $20. Total cost, $200, and these figures only represent a part of my expense. It gives me great pleasure to recommend Harris' Wondro and I will gladly answer any letters or give personal interviews upon request. I cannot thank you enough for what your medicine did for me. I did not send a testimonial sooner, as I wished to see if my asthma would return, but I have no more worry on that score. It is now three years ago that I first took Harris' Wondro and since then I have felt at least ten years younger. I always keep a supply of your remedy in the house, as I find it very stimulating to take some occasionally. I have also found that it keeps away colds and the flu. I think you and assure you that you are at liberty to make use of this testimonial to help the cause of curing the suffering of others. Yours truly, Wm. Adams, c/o S.O.E. Hall, 1216 Broad Street, Victoria, Phone 8-4022."

The healing properties of Harris' Wondro are assimilated in the blood and are thereby circulated throughout the entire system. That's why Harris' Wondro is such a great help to asthma sufferers and brings such lasting relief, as in Mr. Adams' case. Harris' Wondro is for sale at all drug stores and is obtainable also in boxed capsule form. A bottle of Harris' Talcum, a medicine for constipation, is included free with every purchase of Harris' Wondro. If your druggist cannot supply you, order direct from George Harris & Son, Herbalists, Calgary. (Advt.)

The bottom photo—one of the most unusual of its kind ever taken—shows three of the seven survivors of the ill-fated Sand Merchant clinging to an overturned lifeboat on Lake Erie as the rescue ship, Thunder Bay Quarries, approaches. Nineteen men and one woman were drowned when the Sand Merchant, bound for Cleveland from Toronto, capsized and sank fifteen miles northwest of Cleveland, when its cargo of sand shifted in the heavy seas. A member of the rescue ship's crew took this vivid photo. Top is the Sand Merchant.

Little Stories for Bedtime

Tries to Drive Skimmer From the Old Orchard

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

One of the queer things about wronging another is the feeling that you do not want to see the pinc you have wronged anywhere about. That is one of the ways conscience pricks. Now, you wouldn't think from the way he acts that Bully the English Sparrow has any conscience. Perhaps he doesn't know he has himself. But just the same he has. Everybody has. Nobody is so bad that somewhere down deep inside there is not some good, and conscience is this good trying to make itself felt.

Now you know that Bully and Mrs. Bully had boldly robbed Skimmer the Swallow and Mrs. Skimmer of their home. Poor Skimmer and his little mate had bravely fought all the long morning trying to get their home back. But it had been of no use, and now, almost heart broken, Whinn and Skimmer from their wounds, they sat side by side on a dead branch of an apple tree where they could see their lost home.

"It's no use to try to get them for their stronger than we," said Skimmer sadly. "But if we watch maybe they will both leave the house, and then we can get in. If we once get in I think we can keep them out."

"My beautiful eggs! They broke my beautiful eggs!" moaned little Mrs. Skimmer. "And they've torn that nest we worked so hard to build to pieces."

"Never mind," said Skimmer, trying to comfort her. "If we can get our home back there are other houses we can move into, and I'll work twice as hard as I did before to help you build another nest. Hello! What does that wretch want now?"

Mrs. Skimmer looked up to see Bully flying in their direction. They didn't have long to wait to find out what he wanted. He flew at them savagely, a little feathered fury.

"Get out of here! Get away from the Old Orchard and stay away! I don't want to see you hanging around," he cried.

You see, Bully had guessed what was in their minds. More than that, he knew right down in his heart that he had done them a great wrong, and though he wasn't the least bit sorry he didn't like to be reminded of it by seeing them about. That was the pricking of his conscience, though Bully would not have admitted it. So, having done them one wrong he made up his mind that he would do them another. He would drive them out of the Old Orchard altogether. You will find that almost always one wrong leads to another.

"My beautiful eggs! They broke my beautiful eggs!" moaned little Mrs. Skimmer.

Now, Skimmer and Mrs. Skimmer had no difficulty in keeping out of Bully's way, for you know they are wonderful fliers, while Bully is slow and clumsy. But every time they tried to alight for a moment's rest Bully drove them into the air again. He gave them no peace. Finally, they were obliged to leave the Old Orchard altogether, though they did not go far. Then, boasting loudly, Bully returned to the house he had stolen and which Mrs. Bully had not left unguarded for a moment. There they noisily talked it all over, and planned to begin building their own nest at once.

"I guess they won't bother us any more," chirped Bully. "I've driven them out of the Old Orchard and I guess they've had all the fighting with me they want. There is nothing like being bold, my dear, to get the things you want in this world."

Which goes to show that Bully believes, as a great many people seem to, that might makes right. Of course it doesn't, and in the end no good comes of it.

CHIROPODISTS HAVE TROUBLE

Police Magistrate Requires Time to Go Into Case Tried Before Him

Progress was made yesterday in the charges laid against three alleged offenders against the statutes of the province governing the carrying on of the calling of chiropodists in British Columbia. W. S. Owen, Vancouver, was present in the city police court representing the Chiropodist Association of British Columbia, and with him were Dr. J. I. Gorosh, president of the British Columbia Association and a member of the board of examiners, and Dr. Arthur Hulton, secretary of the association.

Acting for W. R. Quagliotti, H. A. Maclean, K.C., said counsel for the association and himself have reached a compromise whereby only the minimum fine under the act for one charge, that of having advertised by the display of a sign, which was contrary to the act, would be asked, while a second charge, that of offending against the act with respect to carrying on practice as a chiropodist would be withdrawn. Mr. Maclean said that the violation, if such had occurred, was an inadvertency and was not intended by his client.

SECOND CASE SETTLED

In the case of William J. Fraser, Jr., who was represented by W. C. Moreau, K.C., a similar course was taken and he was fined $25 on the count of having violated the advertising section of the act, while the charge of having practised in contravention of the act was withdrawn.

The third case, that against William J. Fraser, Sr., was conducted by the defendant without the aid of counsel. With two similar charges laid against him, he pleaded not guilty to both of them. Miss M. Cody, Vancouver, testified to having gone to the office of the defendant on whose door was a sign in which it was set out he was a "foot corrector." She had gone to him and he had examined her feet, telling her that she was troubled with corns and locking. He had manipulated and massaged her feet and ankles and collected a fee.

QUESTION OF SPELLING

The attention of the court was called to the fact that advertising as a "foot corrector" was forbidden unless the person was a member of the association. The difference in the sign and the reading of the act was alluded to.

On the point of violating the act, the defendant explained that orthopedic treatment would embrace any manipulation of any limb. He undertook to obtain from a recognized professional dictionary a definition that would satisfy the court on the point of orthopedic.

The defendant said that he got his right to practice from war-time services. He never took the title of a foot "corrector."

Judgment was reserved by Magistrate Hall in the case of the defendant.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

COMPARISON OF THE EFFECTS OF DEAFNESS WITH BLINDNESS

I find myself writing about the deaf, and about those who are blind or nearly blind because to be deaf or hard of hearing means little or no sympathy from family, friends or employers, whereas blindness brings out nothing but sympathy and a desire to help. Yet those who know most about blindness and deafness from having mingled with those who are blind or deaf tell us that the deaf are really more deserving of our sympathy than are the blind.

It is gratifying to know then that there is the National Society for the Hard of Hearing with headquarters in Washington D.C. and branches in cities of the United States and Canada, and also the National Institute for the Deaf in London, England.

The secretary of this National Institute for the Deaf, A. J. Story, states, "that an inquiry should be made into the psychological (mental) contrast between the deaf and the blind. Lifelong association with the deaf, as children and adults, including twenty-nine years with those of blindness. Deafness is a much worse misfortune. For it means the loss of the most vital stimulus—the sound of the voice—that brings language, sets thoughts astir, and helps us in the intellectual company of man."

It is not hard to realize as we read the above that deafness may alter the disposition and character. I am writing this so that we may all be more sympathetic, more helpful, less impatient with those who are deaf.

MARINE, RAIL and AIR

Problems of Planes
At Great Altitudes
Are Being Studied

British Air Ministry Announces Second Machine To Follow Up Success of Squadron-Leader Swain's Recent Flight Into Stratosphere

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Great Britain is beginning carefully planned and intensive research directed to solution of the problem of power-driven flight at levels far within the "stratosphere"—the layer of air of constant temperature which begins in these altitudes at a height of between thirty thousand and forty thousand feet.

Following the success of an experimental flight last month, during which Squadron-Leader F. R. D. Swain, the pilot, and a special high-flying monoplane set a new world altitude record of 49,967 feet, the Air Ministry has announced that a second aircraft similar in all respects to the record-breaker except for its engine, which will be liquid-cooled instead of air-cooled, is being built.

Both machines will be used for experimental flying which experts hope will go far to confer the freedom of the stratosphere upon the military and commercial airplane.

Squadron-Leader Swain has submitted a detailed report on his record flight to the Air Ministry. The airplane, which is called the Bristol Type 138, is ready at the Royal Aircraft Establishment, Farnborough, for a series of further journeys to levels nearly twice as high as the peak of Everest, world's highest mountain. Last week it surpassed the existing record, held by the French pilot, Detre, by 1,269 feet. In the official announcement of Squadron-Leader Swain's attempt, the Air Ministry states that "after further experience with this new aircraft and its novel equipment, still greater heights may yet be attained."

WITHOUT PARALLEL
The designed service "ceiling" (defined as the height at which rate of climb has fallen to 100 feet a minute) of the high flying monoplane is 54,000 feet. Technicians believe that slight adjustments will enable that figure to be realized. On the day, Squadron-Leader Swain undoubtedly flew the machine as high as it would go; unfortunately weather conditions were not good and he was obliged to ascend with a much bigger load of fuel than a good day would have demanded. Incidentally, the new height record is the fourth established by an airplane powered with a Bristol engine, while for the first time, both aircraft and engine are designed and built by the same firm, Captain Barnwell, chief aircraft designer, A. H. R. Fiddens, chief engineer, and their staffs are to be congratulated on an achievement without parallel in the history of aviation.

Efforts will be concentrated during the next few weeks on the determination of a few practical uncertainties. The best angle of climb must be ascertained within yet narrower limits. The amount of fuel required must be more definitely known. On the morning of the record flight a north-easterly wind, which was blowing at considerable strength low down, reached hurricane force in the upper air. England is a small country—from near its greatest height Squadron-Leader Swain could see from North Foreland to Land's End in one glance, and sufficient fuel was put in the tanks to insure a safe return should the wind carry the airplane out to sea. Hence the ascent was made with enough fuel on board for a flight of nearly three and a half hours, and to lighten his load in the attempt to reach the greatest possible height, the pilot was obliged to fly for nearly two hours around 45,000 to 50,000 feet. It was this long stay at such a level which weakened Squadron-Leader Swain during his subsequent descent to a point where he was unable to breathe and had finally to pierce the window of his pressure helmet before landing.

FLY TO MOON
Behavior of the engine and of the pressure suit will be closely studied. Maintaining the atmospheric pressure in which the pilot lives at a level which is two pounds to the square inch above external atmospheric pressure, the suit has

SEARCH FOR SURVIVORS

Wreck of Steamer Van Der Wijck Is Mystery to Master

SURABAYA, Java, Oct. 21.—Rescue planes and ships continued their search today for survivors of the Netherlands steamer Van Der Wijck, which went down off the Java coast yesterday with loss of thirty-four lives.

No signs of life were found on the surface of the oil-stained sea where the vessel mysteriously foundered.

The wreck of the ship is a complete mystery to me," said Capt. B. C. Akkerman, rescued master of the Van Der Wijck. "Most of the survivors over their lives to the fact there was oil floating on the water after the steamer went down. Sharks are plentiful in these waters, but they don't like oil and so did not approach, saving time for the rescue."

Of the thirty-four missing fourteen are Europeans, including two children, and twenty are natives.

The 2,633-ton ship suddenly listed and went down after there had been barely time to send an SOS.

The captain was unable to explain the disaster, but thought a leak must have developed.

Vancouver Shipping

VANCOUVER, Oct. 21.—S.S. South Wales is due here tomorrow to Seaboard Sales Agencies to load for Hull.

S.S. Crossington was loading here today for United Kingdom. She will leave for the Montreal-Vancouver run for the Canadian Transport Co., Ltd., for some time.

S.S. Temple Moat, under charter to British Columbia Shipping Agencies, Ltd., is due at Alberni tomorrow to load for Australia.

The British S.S. King Arthur arrived here today to British Columbia Shipping Agencies to load for Adelaide.

The stout, well-dressed lady stalked majestically into the motor car showroom. "I want a car," she announced. "It must be a silent car, one not given to sudden starts and stops, and above all, its running expenses must be very low. Have you such a car here?"

"Well, not exactly, madam," returned the salesman, "but if you car to wait a moment, we can make a slight alteration which will produce the very car you want."

"Ah!" returned the lady, "a small addition, I suppose?"

"No," came the reply, "a little subtraction... taking away the engine, to be precise."

Year's Truce Looms
As Possibility in Waterfront Trouble

Request of Maritime Commissioner May Be Adopted—Understood Shipowners Agreeable To Indefinite Stay on Certain Conditions

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—The question of a year's truce on the waterfront apparently hinged today on a conference in which Rear-Admiral Harry G. Hamlet, Federal Maritime Commission representative, was understood to have submitted union terms to shipowners.

Negotiators declined to be quoted specifically, but it was understood the maritime unions demanded six concessions as their peace price. Some of these concessions were said to be virtually the same as the demands previously made by the unions in the long and fruitless negotiations following upon the expiration of old working agreements last September 30.

Although the shipowners' representatives would not comment formally, one of their number said he believed they would take the position that they already were adhering to a Maritime Commission request for an indefinite truce and would continue it for a year on certain conditions.

These conditions were said to require Maritime Commission assurance that it would enforce the provisions of the old agreements which the employers promised to observe during the indefinite truce.

ILLEGAL STRIKES

One of the principal complaints of the employers has been that the unions repeatedly violated the old agreements by striking illegally and making demands beyond the scope of the old awards.

Associates of Admiral Hamlet, member of the Maritime Commission, said he had appealed to employers and employees to extend the contracts and continue negotiations.

Admiral Hamlet, associates stated, appeared to favor wage increases for seamen, but not union control of the hiring halls from which workers are sent to jobs.

The employers, through T. G. Plant, chairman of the Coast Committee, previously refused the request for increased wages and proposed a periodical "adjustment" on efficiency shown by longshoremen.

Admiral Hamlet met with the joint negotiating committee of the various unions, presumably to take up the questions of hiring hall control and wages. No specific wage increase had been suggested for the unlicensed group.

The seven maritime unions, with a total membership of 37,000, proceeded with a referendum that

EXPORTING MANY

Manager of B.C. Publication Gives
Ottawa Paris Credit for Bringing Market Back

MONTREAL, Oct. 21.—British Columbia will export more than 1,000,000,000 feet of lumber this year, excluding shipments to the United States, a service club was told today by Aetie Moore, manager of the periodical "British Columbia Lumberman."

Moore praised the Ottawa agreement, which, he said, brought the British market back to British Columbia exporters. Prior to the agreement, the States of Washington and Oregon had 80 per cent of the United Kingdom trade from the Western area.

"British Columbia at present has more than 80 per cent of the exports from this area to the United Kingdom, while Oregon and Washington have what is left," he said.

COULD HARDLY RISE FROM HER CHAIR*Rheumatism Relieved by Kruschen

This woman was such a confirmed sufferer from rheumatism that she thought she would never get relief. But before she had finished one bottle of Kruschen her rheumatism was leaving her. Here is her letter: "I had rheumatism so badly that once I got into a chair I found great difficulty in rising again. A friend told me to try Kruschen Salts, and I thought it was a foolish idea, as there seemed to me to be nothing that would relieve rheumatism. My friend gave me two doses to try. I took one dose on Monday and another on Tuesday, and by then my pain had moved to another part of my body. Well, that was a good start, so I bought a bottle and it gave me great joy to find my rheumatism disappearing, and now for a long time I have been free." (Miss A.R.)

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Oct. 21 (AP).—A story of adventure, danger and profit came today from young Dana Lamb, of Santa Ana, when he and his wife, Virginia, returned from a three-year jaunt down the Pacific Coast in a sixteen-foot specially built canoe.

Lamb said they "cracked up" numerous times in the shore surf and had many narrow escapes. They started, he said, with only $4, planning to subsist on game, fish and fruits, but were able to buy passage back here from Cristobal, Canal Zone, and still have enough money "to keep us for a while."

They found a gold deposit en route and painted dust, some of which they brought back, Lamb said.

The longest stretch of open water they traversed was between Costa Rica and Cow's Island, 350 miles. They started their journey from Laguna Beach, Cal., in August, 1933, seven months after their marriage.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 21 (AP).—Halibut receipts at Vancouver during the past season totaled 2,043,341 pounds, according to figures issued today by the Vancouver Harbor Board. This is a gain of 426,341 pounds over the 1935 season.

The market here was good all season and many halibut boats came here instead of going to Prince Rupert as in former years; it was reported, resulting in the gain here.

Prince Rupert, however, showed a slight loss with 10,387,100 pounds landed there this year compared with 10,555,650 pounds last year.

Each of the foregoing establishments was a "blind"—a pretense, preconcerted to deceive, defog and shield its real identity.

In this usage of "blind," the alusion is, of course, to the fact that it embodies the idea of that which is without and out of sight, which is undiscernable because deliberately concealed or disguised.

About the earliest appearance of "blind" in this significance is in South's "Sermons," published in 1664.

Almost three centuries earlier, Chaucer used the adjective "blind" in the sense of out of the way, secret, obscure.

Navy and Hudson's Bay Register Wins In Mid-Week Games

Sailors Blank James Bay Wanderers in Opening Match at Athletic Park by 4-0 Score—Cockrill Nets All of Navy's Goals—McLellan's Tally Gives Bays Victory Over Spencers

HAYWARD CUP SERIES
	W	L	D	P
Navy	2	0	1	3
Hudson's Bay	1	0	3	5
Spencers	1	1	1	3
Longshoremen	0	2	3	3
Garrison	0	1	1	3
Wanderers	0	2	0	8

Yesterday's results:
Navy 4, James Bay Wanderers 0.
Hudson's Bay 1, Spencers 0.

Navy and Hudson's Bay soccer players today shared top berth in the Hayward Cup race by reason of their victories yesterday over the James Bay Wanderers and Spencers, respectively. Playing in the opening game of the twin bill at the Royal Athletic Park the sailors blanked the James Bay lads, 4-0, as Cecil Cockrill, husky centre forward, put on a one-man scoring performance by netting all of the goals. Bays eked out a 1-0 victory over Spencers, last season's champions, in the final half of the double bill.

"Rosy" McLellan, playing inside left for the green and gold aggregation, snared the lone tally in the early stages of the first half. Turning on the heat after being outplayed in the first ten minutes of the match, Hudson's Bay displayed flashes of brilliant football in their fixture with Spencers. The Diamond "S" boys opened a dangerous early offensive and tested Travis, Bays' net custodian, with a number of long drives, but he turned everything aside with the ease of a veteran.

ONLY TALLY
Changing with almost dramatic suddenness the attack swung to the opposite end of the field and in a few short minutes the Hudson's Bay were one goal up. Gaining possession of the loose ball at almost mid-field, Miles, bustling young centre forward, raced towards Spencers' goal. After evading the opposition fullback, he passed to "Rosy" McLellan and the latter played beat Stewartson with a shot to the centre of the goal.

From the centre Bobby Brown drove two high shots at Travis and he cleared. Play swung to the end of the field and Miles sent in a fine shot from the right line. The ball hit the far upright and bounced out to Jimmie Oakman. With a first-time drive Oakman shook the post with a shot that was certainly ticketed for the goal.

Bays continued to have the better of the play in this half but could not increase their margin.

Fighting hard in an effort to stave off their first defeat of the season, Spencers had an edge in the final half play but found it impossible to penetrate the stubborn defence put up by the green and gold aggregation. Diamond "S" forwards, shooting wildly, sent most of their shots off the mark, and the few that did reach the goal were capably handled by young Travis.

Late in the half, O'Connell, Hudson's Bay fullback, headed the ball towards his own goal while attempting to clear and only a brilliant save by Travis prevented the ball from sagging the hem.

Six minutes before time Dick Bradley and Don Pish were chased from the field by Referee Al McKinnon after a short fistic display. McKinnon referred.

The teams were:
Hudson's Bay—Travis, O'Connell, McKinnon, Williamson, Kennedy, White, Pish, Wyatt, Miles, McLellan and Oakman.

Spencers—Stewartson, Moir, Cann, L. Bradley, Chapman, R. Bradley.

Soccer Squads to Clash in Ansonby Cup Game Nov. 11

PRESENTED many years ago by Herbert Ansonby, M.P., for inter-league competition between the Saturday and Wednesday leagues, the Ansonby Cup will be played for once again. Pat Mulcahy, secretary of the Victoria and District Football League, announced yesterday that the first match of the best-of-three series will be played at the Royal Athletic Park on November 11. The trophy is at present held by the Saturday leaguers, being won by their squad when last played for a few seasons ago. Secretary Mulcahy also announced that hopes of Seattle teams playing exhibition fixtures here this season have faded. Advised that they played with the local squads Vancouverenever would not visit Seattle for matches, the Sound City squads, regrettably, were forced to cancel the proposed fixtures, with Victoria. First round fixtures in the Milson Cup series will be played on Saturday, October 31. Victoria West will oppose Victoria City at the Royal Athletic Park and Esquimalt will clash with the Saanich Thistles at Bullen Park. Both matches will start at 2:30 o'clock.

Greyhound Racing Introduced to Canadians

GREYHOUND racing, fashionable sport of thousands in England and United States, reached Eastern Canada on Thanksgiving Day when a programme of twelve races was run at Toronto. Sponsors of the event hope to introduce greyhound racing as a regular sport. They estimate that pressure is being brought to bear upon the Dominion Government to legalize betting on dog races. Entrants in one of the hotly contested races were shown leaving the starting chute to chase a mechanical rabbit over a 440-yard course, covering the distance in approximately 20 seconds. Hundreds who watched were thrilled by the speed of the dogs who, in regular races, are handicapped to keep competition even. Rules demand that the dogs be muzzled.

MERALOMAS WIN GRID GAME, 20-5

VANCOUVER, Oct. 21 (P)—Meralomas, last year's British Columbia Canadian Rugby champions, showed flashes of their old fire as they steam-rolled through a bewildered North Shore Lions squad for a 20-5 victory in a Big Four League battle under the lights tonight.

Perry and Ross each carried the ball across for a major score in the first quarter for Meralomas, and both touchdowns were converted. After a scoreless second quarter, the Lions' forwards passed the way to a touchdown, Moxline carrying the ball over. It went unconverted.

Meralomas added a safety touch for two points in the third quarter, and Bosscott added another five points to their scoring column as he carried the ball across in the final quarter. Slater converted for the final point.

Soccer Activities

Members of the Esquimalt soccer team are asked to attend a workout this evening at 7:30 o'clock at Bullen Park.

American Golfers Are No Longer Invincible

British Shotmakers Are Regaining Prestige, Recent Tournaments Show, States Lawson Little—McLean Tossed Away United States Crown

By LAWSON LITTLE
Only holder of British and American Amateur Titles Two Years Running
For the last five years or so we golfers in the United States have been considering ourselves superior to the British, but the recent achievements of a few British players makes me wonder if there are grounds for the high opinion we have had of ourselves. Superiority in golf goes in cycles. Before the war Great Britain was supreme throughout the golfing world, until Francis Olinnet and Walter Hagen came along and showed that the wonder golfers of the British Isles could be beaten. Since that time we have enjoyed great success in international competition against our British opponents. Do these recent accomplishments of Pam Barton, Jack McLean, Henry Cotton, Alf Perry and Alf Padgman indicate that the pendulum is swinging back toward its birthplace?

We have never been outstandingly successful in the professional Ryder Cup team matches. We have chalked up victories when the matches were held in this country, but every time this cup has been played for in Great Britain, we have been defeated.

CUP MATCHES EVEN UP
In the Walker Cup team competition, the British-American golf classic, we have enjoyed great success. We have not lost a competition in eight starts so far, and this year we kept the British from winning a match at Pine Valley.

The Curtis Cup team competitions have fared about as well as the Ryder Cup team. Our lady golfers seem to have the upper hand when the teams compete in this country, but the British ladies have the edge when the competition is held in their country.

As for the individual championships, we have, in a small way, held a monopoly on the British Open championship since the early 20's down until Henry Cotton crashed through to win the tournament in 1924. Since then his victory has been followed up by Alf Perry in 1935 and Alf Padgman this year. It should be remembered, however, that we have not had a strong entry in this championship since 1923, when the American Ryder Cup team competed in the tournament at St. Andrews—and Denny Shute won the championship then.

In recent years we have won the British amateur championship only four times. Walter Travers won in 1904 makes the total wins for America in this event only five. We have been represented by a strong team no less than four times when no American player reached the final.

NEVER WON TITLE
In the British women's championship we have yet to score a victory. Although the British suffered a punishing defeat in the Walker Cup competition at Pine Valley early last month, they made a much better showing in the amateur championship held at Garden City ten days later. There were about twenty British entries in our championship, as against approximately 180 of our players entered. One of these Britishers, Jack McLean, of Scotland, had the amateur championship tucked right under his arm at one stage of the final match. During the closing holes of the match he contracted "three-pullitis" and had attacks on the five or eight greens. On several of these greens he had two putts for the hole.

On the sixteenth hole or rather the thirty-fourth hole of the match, he was cruelly stung, when it looked like he could not stop winning that hole. This would have made him two up and two to play—the next hole was halved skillfully in birdies and Jack would have won the match.

Our Johnny Fischer gallantly rose to the occasion on the last, thirty-sixth hole by downing a fourteen-foot putt for a birdie two to tie the match. His inspiration lasted until the first extra hole, where he sank a twenty-five-foot putt for another birdie and the championship. His final dash of three birdies in succession and the swing on the thirty-fourth hole saved the title for us.

SOLE BRITISH ENTRY
In the recent United States women's championship, Great Britain had one entry and it was enough. Pam Barton, the British women's champion, looked like a winner all week and at the end of the championship she proved that she had a legitimate claim to her British title. She defeated our Mrs. Crews in a beautifully played hotly-contested final by 4 and 3.

All in all, we have a better record

NORTHWEST FIGHTER REGISTERS VICTORY OVER ST. LOUIS BOY

Middleweight Champion Punches Way to Fine Decision Over Colored Contender—Steele Floors Matthews for Eight Count in Sixth Round—Billy Buxton Scores Kayo in First

SEATTLE, Oct. 21 (P)—Champion Freddie Steele, of Tacoma, virtually eliminated another dangerous challenger in the middleweight division here tonight when he won a ten-round decision over Allen Matthews, heavy-cloutin' negro of St. Louis, in their non-title battle.

Steele weighed 153½ pounds, and Matthews, 162. The champion scored the only knockdown of the fight, flooring the negro in the sixth round for an eight-count with a vicious right-hand smash to the jaw. The bell ended the round before Steele could press his advantage.

Matthews hit Steele hard and often, probably harder than Freddie was hit in many of his other fights, and stood toe to toe with the champion, while both slugged furiously. The negro showed best in the early rounds, taking the first from the Tacoma man, breaking even in the second and winning the fourth. He fought Freddie from four angles in the fourth, his best round, and sent the titleholder back on his heels several times with heavy smashes to the head.

Steele, a bit worried up to the fifth, turned the tide that led the rest of the way. He opened the fifth with a hard right cross to the negro's chin, followed it with a left, and draped the Easterner on the ropes with smashes—left and right.

Steele reeling and a bit groggy in the fifth, eighth and tenth, as well as the sixth round knockdown. Meyer "Wildcat" Rowan, New York lightweight, and Indian Billy Lew, Portland, pounded away to a draw in the six-round semi-final. Lew, scaling 141½ pounds, connected with a few long range punches, but failed to bother the New Yorker. Rowan, 137½ pounds, devoted most of his time to shooting for Lew's mid-section.

Frankie Lembo, 136½, of Fresno, Calif., won a decision from Young Corpeiz, 133, of Seattle, in four rounds.

Billy Buxton, Victoria 124 pounds, knocked out Buddy Ambrose, 127½, Portland, in the first round of four.

Many Golfers Take Part in Uplands Meet

Golfers of both sex flocked to the Uplands course yesterday to take part in the invitation tournament staged under the direction of Walter Gravlin, club professional. The course was in great shape and drew comment from the large field of 120 shotmakers. Devotees of the game from all the local clubs took part and sharp competition marked the day's play. J. P. Owens, with the assistance of his twenty-four handicap, captured the men's prize for the low net, with a card of 81, while Mrs. Alex Gillespie walked away with the women's, with a net score of 71. Norm Wallace turned in the best gross, shooting the course in 77, while Mrs. E. Jackson topped the women with a smartly played 84. Many other prizes were given out after the last group had putted out.

Helen Displays Trophies

Cups and medals, clocks, a lamp, mugs and serviceable houseware; not to mention two olive wreaths (foreground) and two certificates (background) won by the recent Olympic Games, are among the athletic trophies garnered by Helen Stephens in her two years of first flight athletic competition. This eighteen-year-old farm girl has been a sensation since she sprang into the limelight overnight, two years ago, with her victory over Stella Walsh in a foot race in St. Louis. Miss Stephens, now a senior at William Woods College in Fulton, Mo., has collected her souvenirs of victory on athletic fields in the United States, Canada and Europe.

West Saanich Mercantiles—C. Slaggett (9), R. Mitchell (2), C. Slaggett (3), B. Mitchell (2), Cunningham (1), Slaggett (7), Paulson and Young (7). Total 37.

Liberty Cafe—Robb (10), D. Naysmith (2), Moore (4), Sharp (12), Lanes II and W. Naysmith Total 30.

West Saanich Mercantiles gained a twelve-point advantage with the score 28-16 in their favor. At this stage the Liberty Cafe hopelers rallied and dropped home four field goals without a return. This was the closest they ever came to winning the fixture in the final half as the winners came back again with another successful attack.

SONS OF CANADA WIN
With Harold Turner, star of last year's Kinsman-Gillespie quintette scoring eighteen points, Sons of Canada "intermediate A" eagles walked through the Regents for a 41-19 victory. The winners piled up a 19-6 lead in the initial half and outscored their opponents 22-13 in the final drive.

The winners played smart ball and definitely established themselves as championship contenders. Making their debut in the Victoria and District Basketball League, Oak Bay Mercantiles eked out a 20-19 triumph over the Canadian Scottish. The militiamen enjoyed a four-point lead as the players left the floor for the rest interval with the count, 10-4, in their favor.

The Oak Bay boys played faster ball and shot much better in the last half and soon went to the front. They set up a six-point lead only to have the Canadian Scottish stage a brilliant rally that was cut short by the final gong.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON
General Grant—Ulysses S. Grant was made General of the Army on July 25, 1866, after the Civil War. He was the second to hold that army rank, having been preceded by George Washington on June 15, 1775. Eight more generals have held this rank since General Grant.

Stingless Mosquitoes—A new race of the stingless variety is being propagated. The Academy of Sciences in France was assured recently by Professor Louis Eugene Bouvier, who presented the work of Dr. Legendre. This modern mosquito, known to his Latin-speaking scientific friends as "ules pupus," was found by Dr. Legendre in the northern part of France. For two years he has cultivated these in the Paris region, west of Marseilles, and they are replacing their stingless brethren so effectively that there is hope of an era when mosquitoes will be in good repute.

Air Minister to Execute Germany's Four-Year Plan for Economic Self-Sufficiency

BERLIN, Oct. 21 (P)—Air Minister Goering was given unlimited authority yesterday by Chancellor Hitler to enforce all measures he sees fit to execute Germany's four-year plan for economic self-sufficiency.

Hitler named Goering last April as dictator over questions of foreign exchange and raw materials. The Volkischer Beobachter, Hitler's newspaper, announced Goering's first act under his new powers would be to put down profiteering with an iron hand.

CHEMICAL WAREHOUSE IS DAMAGED BY FIRE

VANCOUVER, Oct. 21 (P)—Fire of unknown origin last night did considerable damage to the warehouse of the Western Chemical Industries, on Vancouver's waterfront before being brought under control. Although a considerable amount of chemical in the building was believed destroyed, no estimate of the damage was available.

Jane Dixon Says:

A WORRIED MOTHER IS SUFFERING THE ORDEAL OF SEEING ONE OF HER DAUGHTERS STRIKING AT THE HAPPINESS OF THE OTHER

What a position for a mother! She has two daughters. She loves them both dearly. And she is in the position of seeing one daughter striking at the happiness of the other. What should she do? What can she do? How may she save her family from being disrupted by the bitterness born of treachery in one we love and trust?

My Dear Miss Dixon: You reply to the girl who wanted to know how she could get her sister's beau to "date her," interested me greatly. I have two daughters.

Of course, I love them both dearly; but my love does not blind me to their faults, as happens with some mothers.

I have a well-founded suspicion that my younger daughter is trying to get her sister's beau to "date her," when he called at the house and the elder girl is not home. In fact, I am sure she meets this young man while her sister is at work.

SAYS HER INTEREST IS "SISTERLY"

He has told the younger one repeatedly that he loves the other one, but it seems to mean nothing to her. She still continues her attempt to "vamp" him.

The fact that my "vamping" daughter is engaged to another young man makes no difference either, though her fiancé is a fine chap. I have admonished her without effect. She merely laughs and says that her interest in him is purely "sisterly."

However, as you told the girl who was behaving much the same way, such double-crossing methods are anything but sisterly.

As she will heed nothing I say, I'm sorely tempted to put the young man to whom she is engaged wise to her attempts.

No one knows how much it would hurt me to do such a thing, but it does seem that she deserves just such treatment as she is giving the sister who loves and trusts her, and would turn down the best chance rather than hurt the "vamp's" feelings.

What's your remedy? The victim is too faithful to realize the situation. I honestly believe that the main reason the younger one tries to make trouble is that she wants her sister for herself, and for what she can get from a kind and generous nature.—Worried Mother.

CALL THE GUILTY ONES TO TASK

Answer: Take the two who are at fault to task—the vamping daughter and the young man who permits her to make him a partner in deception. Get them together and inform them that unless they cease their secret association at once, you will be compelled, for your older daughter's protection, to tell her and the sister's fiancé what really is going on.

If they continue to ignore your warning, do exactly as you told them you would do.

A very ugly canker is developing in your family, and you should take action to remove it now before it spreads its poison through your home. If the younger daughter and her sister's young man are more interested in one another than in their acknowledged partners, they should have the courage and the decency to declare themselves and to go on from there.

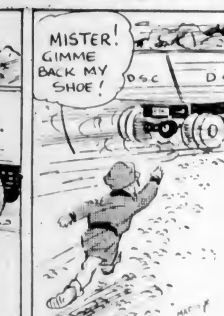

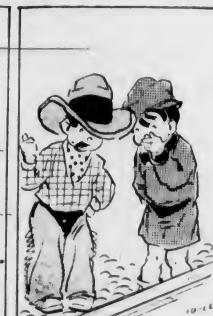

As the mother of the loyal and loving daughter, it is your duty to protect her even though in so doing it becomes necessary to discredit one of your own—who richly deserves such severe treatment.
